

Commutation

A PBOR may commute 50% of his basic pension. Amount commuted will be in whole rupee.

How it's calculated

A commuted value of pension is calculated on the basis of age on next birthday, which falls after the date on which the commutation become absolute.

Formula

$50\% \text{ of pension} \times 12 \times \text{Purchase Value (on the age next birth day)}$

Absolute Date

Commutation application submitted After one year	The date on which medical board signs the medical proceedings.
Commutation application submitted within one year	<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. The date of commencement of pension when application received prior to retirement.2. The date of receipt of application by PSA where application is received after retirement.